

Important Information

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. What this means for you: When you open an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth and other information that will allow us to identify you.

We may also ask to see your driver license or other identifying documents. You are verifying under penalty of perjury that all statements and information contained herein are true and correct and that the Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) is correct. You understand joint owners are co-owners and each person named as owner may use the account individually. Joint owners have the right of survivorship on the account. By checking the box, you also certify that you have received a copy of the Credit Union's Truth-in-Savings Account Disclosure and Agreement or, in the event that the account is applied for by mail, that you will notify the Credit Union if a TIS Disclosure and Agreement is not received within ten (10) business days from the date this application is mailed.

By proceeding with this application, you authorize the Credit Union to receive and exchange credit, income and employment information, permit the Credit Union to verify this information from which sources it deems necessary, and may, now and in the future, provide others with information regarding your credit history, to the extent permitted by law. You agree that all owners of any account requested herein agree to the terms, conditions, and covenants of the agreements applicable to each account as set forth in the Disclosure and Agreement. You certify you are a U.S. citizen or resident Alien, and you are not subject to backup withholding taxes.
